

Introduction to Low Angle Rope Rescue in the Wilderness Medicine Environment

Place: Shavers Fork Fire Rescue, Snowshoe, WV When: July 24-25, 2012

This course is designed to introduce the Wilderness Rescuer to the BASIC concepts of low-angle or steep-scrree rope work that might be needed to move an injured person to a safer environment.

Students will learn basic knots, litter packaging, simple hauling systems and other tactics to move out of steep terrain.

Much of the class work is conducted outside—so come prepared for any weather.

This program is sponsored by: WV Office of EMS and the EMS for Children's Program

To register or for more information contact:
SFFR Chief Deron Wilkes

Phone: 304-572-3473
dwilkes@shaversforkfire.com

